National Forests Need You To Tell Their Story!

Project Title	National Forests Need You To Tell Their Story!
Project Summary	Apply your creative writing and website management skills to coordinate information sharing and modernize information on the George Washington and Jefferson National Forests website.
Country	United States

Project Description

Hone your web development skills all while learning about the diverse species and habitats, special projects, and boundless recreation opportunities of national forest lands in Virginia. The intern in this position will have the opportunity to focus their work on any of a number of projects focused on improving information sharing on the Forest website. Projects could include writing recreation site descriptions, developing feature stories for the Learning Center, researching resources for parents and teachers, collecting and sharing plant and animal info pages, develop and implement a plan for sharing trail information, update graphic content; work with resource managers to develop short feature stories for a non-science audience that highlights interesting projects and partnerships.

Required Skills or Interests

Skill(s)
Design thinking
Editing and proofreading
Research
Storytelling/blogging/vlogging
Writing

Additional Information

Language Requirements

None